

c2\writing
29 March, Wednesday, 1989
Writing diary

--started at 0900; shower, shave, tea, no breakfast (experiment: no paper--looked at headline, Bush wants contras to leave Miami for home--no breakfast, Pat takes MGE.

--in bed, 7:45--8:10: thoughts about writing (see Surprise; KSchool; Secrets); wrote down one-word notes, but not extensive notes, aim to do this on computer).

--0900: annotate yesterday's file (pp 7-12 of c2\secrets) (mistake?))

--accept phone call, from Ivo Petr on class for PCS (mistake?)

--write these: note: my aim is 5 single-spaced pages a day, 25-30 a week. Started Friday: 5; Monday, 6 (+file on Rushdie); Tuesday, 6. But on Monday: extensive notes in morning, fill small notebook in bed; but no follow up on computer (yet), loss of momentum, drive, impulse (if not ideas); frustration.

--so now, 0935...(having failed, once again, to go down and do my scratch-pad writing on the computer, before expending the energy...)

--1000: in the midst of writing, I get a call for a telephone interview from Santa Cruz Comic News, having failed to consult my calendar and see this date. But I do put it off for this afternoon, so I can go on writing!

--1240: wrote 4 pages on plans (not on notes, or above subjects); good stuff, but...time to run in garden, eat with Pat... (listened to messages, took calls from RK, TM...))

--3-5 interview with Santa Cruz Comic News on FU Threats and the arms race: Susan Watrous (taped)

5-6: practiced piano

9-10: added to Rushdie file (on McGeorge Bundy, McNamara).

never did get into notes from the morning.